ECONOMIC AND BUSINESS HISTORICAL SOCIETY
Annual Awards, 2004

The Charles J. Kennedy Award, established in honor of the founder of the Economic and Business Historical Society, is given annually to the author or authors of the best article published in that year's issue of Essays in Economic and Business History. The 2004 award was presented in Anaheim, California, to Antonio Calabria of the University of Texas at San Antonio for "The Cost of a Man's Life in Sixteenth-Century Naples: Galley Rowers on the Early Modern Mediterranean."

The James Soltow Award, established in honor of the founder and first editor of Essays in Economic and Business History, is given for the best article in that year's issue of Essays written by an author or authors who have not previously published in Essays. The 2004 award was presented in Anaheim, California, to Janice Traflet of Columbia University for "Spreading the Ideal of Mass Share-Ownership: Public Relations and the NYSE."
